space to think ...

Many would agree ...

... that a day spent karting, jet skiing, mud buggy driving, paintballing, kayaking or even health & beauty pampering represents life lived to the full.

Most would also agree however, that really being able to live life to the full is about something much deeper. Being able perhaps to properly answer life's key questions –

Why Do I Exist?

What's My Purpose?

Does My Life Matter?

So on a Life Discovery day, we try and enable our guests to look at - and live - life to the full on both levels. You won't be preached at: we just want to offer some answers for you to consider to some of life's key questions. There's no formal cost – just a suggested donation fee of £30 per head to cover meals and all activities throughout a day we hope you'll always remember.
